Ways and Means Committee of the House Makes Important Changes in Schedules Affecting Numerous Industries

LUMBER "JOKER" TO STAND

Stockings and Gloves to Be Traded Finally for Votes for the Standard and Brewery Interests—Democrats to Fight.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—The Ways and Means Committee to-day decided to remove the duty from coffee and tea. It also decided that the present controlling duties on oil—Standard Oil—should remain where they are.

There will be no change in the drawback provision under which the Standard Oil makes its money.

There are to be no changes in the glove and hosiery schedules.

Mr. Harrison of New York tried to have stockings and gloves put on the free list, but was defeated by the committee.

The beer interests win. The committee will not increase the duty on beer from 15 to 25 cents per barrel as demanded by the farmers.

Spoons and knives are put on the free list.

The steel schedule is offered in similar particulars. The duty on four cent wire is to be $1.50 per ton and charcoal from $6 to $10 per ton.

Lumber "Joker" Stays in Bill.

The duty on iron stays is increased one-half a cent per pound.

Free rice with the Philippines is killed and the maximum duty is applied.

The provision applying retaliatory treatment with foreign governments on patents is repealed.

There is to be no change in the drawback provisions of the bill.

The tobacco "joker" is to stand. There is to be no free lumber. It is stated that the committee amendments will not satisfy those who have opposed the bill under which the Payne bill may be passed.

Senator Elkins has filed his following up against the bill and a Republican split is provided.

The committee has made no change in the committee coal schedule, as provided by Senator Elkins, and guarantees no record vote on lumber.

Republicans Will Split.

The Republicans from Virginia, West Virginia, Tennessee, Kentucky, Wyoming, Washington and Pennsylvania decided they would not vote for the bill as amended by the committee.

The protected lumber men of the House will not vote for a rule that does not choke off all debate on lumber schedules.

They have agreed to a removal of the Forney joker and a rate rate of $1 is accepted.

Rickings and gloves are to be traded finally for votes to protect the brewers and Rockefeller, and the brewers will win.

The committee will not vote for the rule for passing the Payne bill. It will be introduced on Monday by Mr. Dabell.

It will carry the amendments as drafted. There will be a separate vote on hides and hosiery.

Mr. Payne said tonight that he had been assured that there were sufficient votes in the House to pass the bill. He will have favorable campaign.

Democratic Amendment.

The Democrats have prepared an amendment to the Payne bill, which they will introduce as an amendment to the majority rule, providing for free coffee, oil and lumber, and making the minimum rate of the Payne bill the maximum of their scheme of taxation. It will give the President the right to make any reciprocal treaty he may determine is necessary to promote trade and commercial peace.

Taft Wins FourSome.

With Sherman Defeats Army Men in 18 Votes of Golf.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—The executive department here today at golf this afternoon. It was President Taft and Vice President Sherman against Senator General Elkins and Captain Bull.

The score was 9 up.

"I'm Wedded to Art" Says Mary Garden, "No Prince For Me"

Prima Donna Says No Woman of the Stage Should Assume the Care of Matrimony.

PHILADELPHIA, April 3.—"Mary Garden is wedded to her art. If Mary Garden was not an artist, she would doubtless marry, but as she is a singer, Mary Garden will not marry, for she believes no singer can be a prima donna and be a wife at the same time."

This was Mary Garden's answer in reply to queries from friends and music lovers at the Philadelphia Opera House as to whether she had decided to wed Prince Mavrocordato, of Russia. The singer had just made her farewell appearance in "The Juggler of Notre Dame," and had run into her dressing room with her arms laden with flowers and the audience applauding enthusiastically for her to respond to more rapturous calls.

"I will not marry the Prince," she continued. "I am very happy at the present time. The prince may be very unhappy, but I cannot help it. No, I do not love him. I am wedded to my art. True, he loves me, but why should he go around and be known as the husband of Mary Garden. He would sacrifice his personality. I am a disbeliever against anyone's personality being sacrificed."

"A singer should not be married. I will stand that statement. No woman of the stage should be married. Why do we not have time to care properly for their culture. Suppose I had a child. Could I attend to it properly, jumping about to the country singing as I am forced to do?"

"No, indeed. When Mary Garden gets married, she will retire. No more singing, except in her home. To sing is divine, but to sing and neglect children and husband is wretched."

BEIDE-TO-BE ARRESTED.

Two Lynn Girls Are Held as Shoplifters.

Two pretty girls sixteen from Lynn, one of whom is engaged to be married, were arrested here yesterday afternoon, charged with the larceny of $11.08 worth of underwear from department stores.

They are Josephine Davis, twenty-five years of age, who lives at No. 36 Munroe street, and Louise Berger, twenty years old, of No. 84 Sumner street.

Inquiry at Lynn shows that they both have good reputations, and their arrest caused a great surprise there. Mrs. Mary Moore, the landlady at No. 84 Sumner street, declared that these girls were a girl of good character and had roomed with her for some time. The girl reported the loss of $11.08 last week. She is engaged to a young man in Lynn, who came to town last night and secured the release of the girls on bail.

DIES IN LEPER COLONY.

Niece of Former Governor Long Dead at Molokai.

Word was received in Boston last night of the death of Mrs. Walter R. Brinkley, who was Miss Nellie White of Weymouth, daughter of millionaire Nelson D. White, late of Lowell, famous in the leper colony at Molokai, Hawaii.

Mrs. White was married to Mr. Walter R. Brinkley, who was in charge of the United States Leprosarium at Molokai, in August, 1906. It was then that she met her death, but when she went there to look after her husband she did it with the knowledge that her life might pay the debt for her determination to help the suffering people of the colony. Her husband was found in Boston during the night, but never in 1902.

WALEA AFTER OUP.

LONDON, April 3.—The newspaper says it is reported that private inquiries were recently made by the United States government for the purpose of securing the release of the American Prince of Wales presents it. It is understood that the government is quite on the ground, for which reason it is quite on the ground before the end of the year.

7 DIE IN $5,000,000 FORT WORTH FIRE

Five Hundred Families Homeless as Result of Flames in Texas City.

STARTED BY CIGARETTES

State Troops Ordered Out to Guard Against Ghouls in Burning Section.

FORT WORTH, TEX., April 3.—Fire, believed to have been started this afternoon by two small boys smoking cigarettes in a chicken coop, destroyed property worth $5,000,000.

A patient, whose identity has not been learned, perished in Walker's Sanitarium, and three men were electrocuted and their bodies burned to cinders in the Sawyer electric plant.

Herbert Stacy was fatally burned in an endeavor to save his dwelling, and a fireman fell from a house top and was killed.

The Rev. H. O. Cowan, assistant pastor of the Broadway Presbyterian Church, is missing, and is supposed to have perished.

The boys are said to have started the fire by dropping their cigarettes in some straw. The flames spread quickly and the local newspaper was fatally burned in an endeavor to save his dwelling, and a fireman fell from a house top and was killed.

So rapidly did the flames spread that the people living within a radius of three blocks of the place of origin had no time to save anything except the clothing they wore.

Dynamite Checks Blaze.

The fire, which started in a fashionable residence district, was not checked until dynamite was resorted to four hours later.

A stiff wind was blowing and the heat was so intense that the flames were driven back as the fire advanced. Several times they were forced to abandon their line time and several thousand feet of hose was burned.

The Dallas department, a part of which left Dallas at 2 p. m., twenty minutes after receiving the appeal for aid, arriving here by 2 p. m., brought enough hose to make up the loss. The apparatus was about half past five of the Texas & Pacific railroad depot, as that structure had been destroyed.

All electric wires in the southern section of the city were cut to save the firemen from shock. No special telephone in the city is available for use now, as the south the fire was checked at the Texas & Pacific passenger station, this steel and stone structure forming a bulk work that saved the wholesale district of the city.

On the east it was stopped at the Texas & Pacific Railroad recreation. Among the buildings destroyed or damaged were the Union depot, Texas & Pacific Railroad roundhouse and twenty locomotives, the repair shops, Broadway Church, two other churches, two public school buildings, Walker's sanitarium, Sawyer's grocery, McCord & Collins's wholesale grocery, Waples & Patterson's wholesale grocery and the National Biscuit Company building.

The others were residences, most of them new and pretentious, in the most exclusive residential section of the city. The injured district to-night is being paraded by troops to prevent looting and it is estimated that 500 families are homeless. Many of these have gone to Dallas, where shelter has been offered.

HASKELL SHOTS AS ROBBERS FLEE

Publisher's Son in Wild Chase for Burglar Pair Trying to Loot Somerset Suite.

THREATENED WITH DEATH

Gives Up Pursuit at Point of Guns When His Own Pistol Hangs Fire.

WILLIAM E. HASKELL, Jr., the twenty-year-old son of Colonel William E. Haskell, publisher of the Boston Herald, revolver in hand, last night drove a robber out of his father's suite of rooms in the Hotel Somerset.

The thief was joined on the outside of the hotel by a companion who had been on guard there. The young man chased the two robbers along Newbury street and Charlestown East to the fence along the Boston & Albany railroad tracks.

As they scaled the fence, Young Haskell fired. When he pulled the trigger of his weapon the second time it refused to work. He kept up the chase, however, jumping the fence and following the men along the track for a short distance. When he got near them, he cried out:

"Stop, I've got you covered!"

William Haskell when he was within twenty feet of them, the robbers drew his revolvers and said:

"Well Blow Your Head Off."

"Get back now, or we'll blow your head off."

As his revolver was useless there was nothing else for the young man to do but to obey the threatening order, which was taken up by the hands of desperadoes.

Seconds later the scene in the suite of rooms on the first floor of the Hotel Somerset had a few minutes before. The man who got into the suite made his escape through an open window in Mrs. Haskell's room. He pulled out three dresser drawers, narrowly missing a few boxes containing valuable jewelry.

The thief was behind into the room by his companion, who lifted him on his shoulders. This was what Colonel and Mrs. Haskell and their wife saw at dinner. It was about 7:30 when the Haskell returned to their rooms. Colonel Haskell and his son stepped into the parlor while Mrs. Haskell and their wife were at dinner. The man who got into the suite made his escape through an open window in Mrs. Haskell's room. He pulled out three dresser drawers, narrowly missing a few boxes containing valuable jewelry.

"Shoot Him!" Cries Haskell.

"I'll do for the fellow," he said.

"He injured for the door of my wife's room and slammed the door. I knew the window about ten feet from the ground. Was this my chance for escape that night?"

"I got a revolver and gave it to my son. I said: Shoot that fellow. Cover those windows." I got my revolver and stood at the door inside to prevent the fellow's escape that way.

"In a moment the fellow jumped from the window. My boy jumped from the window of the parlor. I ran to the window and saw the robber run along Newbury street toward Charlestown East. He was immediately joined by his companion. My boy was after them at top speed.

"He fired at them once, just as they vaulted over the railroad fence. He tried to fire again, but the revolver failed to shoot."

ST. YVES, FRENCH RUNNER, WINS GREATEST MARATHON

Here St. Yves, conqueror who gave Marathon race followers big surprise by defeat of a veteran at the distance.

LEADS DORANDO 5 MINUTES IN RECORD TIME

Hayes Third, Majone Longboat and Shul Forced to Drop.

MAKES MARK 2:45:37

Young Dark Horse Triumphant in Spite of Biggest Crowd Ever at Running Event

Winner—Henri St. Yves, 2:45:37.

Fourth—Matt. Maloney of Ireland (no time taken).

Alfred Shrubbs of England dropped out at 25th mile.

Tom Longboat of Canada dropped out at 19th mile.

By C. E. VAN LOAN.

NEW YORK, April 3.—Henri St. Yves, a funny little French waiter, with the shortest legs ever seen on a runner, scuttled away at the Polo grounds with the greatest Marathon race of the year. Legs and laps in front of the men who yesterday morning were regarded as the best distance runners in the world. Finishing with a tremendous spurt, the little unknown carried the lites of France under the wire five minutes ahead of the Italian, Dorando Pietri, and nine minutes ahead of the gritty little American, Johnny Hayes. Fourth money went to Matt Maloney, whose time was not taken.

Longboat, the Indian favorite, and the "Boston Conqueror" continued at the end of his nineteenth mile, and just as the crack of the pistol signalled the beginning of the winner's last mile, Alfred Shrubbs, the English representative, staggered off the track and gave up the race.

It was at the third place, when forced to quit, St. Yves made the full Marathon distance in 2 hours, 45 minutes and 37 seconds. This breaks the professional record of this country by 3 minutes 29 4-5 seconds, made by Dorando in his first race with Johnny Hayes.

The Marathon experts did not know any thing about St. Yves. It is true that he came to this country credited with running the distance in phenomenal time, but the wise ones took one look at him and decided that he would not do. He did not like the legs.

Four men who doled that a man's legs should be long enough to reach from his body to the ground, but the game overruled this idea. St. Yves, a husky outsider in the betting, it is not the first time that a long shot has broken the hearts and beat the backs of the favorites and pocketed the grand stands.

At 2:30 a drizzle turned into a steady downpour and umbrellas went up, but not a soul left the park.

A safe, fast and conservative estimate places the attendance at 20,000. To add 5,000 more would bring it still nearer the truth. A hand in the field played first-class and the umbrellas bobbed in time to the music. Three o'clock came and Pietri, underbated to a stem strain, tackled the toughest job of his life.

He announced that the race would be run on a six-day track. The course, marked with flags, crossed the home plate, skirted first and third bases and went out to the center field fence.

Shortly after 3 o'clock runs from the bleachers announced the arrival of the race.

PATTEN'S WHEAT STARTS SCRAMBLE

Dumps Million Bushels on the Market; Puts $37,800,000 Into Farmers' Pocket.

CHICAGO, April 3.—Over $37,800,000 has been put into the pockets of the farmers of the United States by the spectacular deal in May wheat by James A. Patten and his assistants on the Chicago Board of Trade.

These figures are arrived at in the following manner: The best estimate of the amount of wheat now on the farms, in the granaries and bins of the men who plant, cultivate, reap and thresh the grain is 1,000,000,000 bushels in the United States.

During the week which has just ended prices of May wheat on the Chicago Board of Trade ranged from 81.25 to a bushel to $1.18. These prices are abnormal. They are the highest bought by May wheat since the famous "June" letter crisis in 1895. The price of May wheat now is at least 27 cents a bushel higher than it would have been had not the great bull movement of the "King of the Bids" Patten been inaugurated. With these figures 1,000,000,000 bushels and 27 cents a bushel of value, it will make millions of dollars out of the corner.

Like a school of hungry trout rising to the lures of a fly, the wheat buyers of the wheat brokers gobbled up Patten's 1,000,000 bushels. Men fought the auction to get this wheat. They crowded and they pushed and they shouted; their batteries and they tore clanking in their effort to buy wheat. The price was a secondary consideration. They wanted the wheat. Some of the crowd got it; others were disappointed.

Practically every man in the country who takes a flyer at wheat is a bull man. The farmer, the banker, the stockbroker, all are bulls. They believe that the high price has not been reached by any means.

BOSTONIAN, KISS EXPERT, WINS CASE

Osculation So Widespread Can Hardly Be Called Dramatic, He Says.

NEW YORK, April 3.—William Moss of the Boston Ophium store, and son of the Morris vaudeville circuit, the serious rival of the so-called "Vanderbilt" family, before Judge James Munroe today in a case expertly called by the questions Mr. Morris called upon to answer:

"When is a kiss not a kiss?"

"Can one kiss and talk at the same time?"

"Is a kiss a physical act?"

"Is a kiss necessary to the success of any talking act?"

"Are kisses as plentiful off the stage as on?"

"Is it nice to be kissed?"

"Is it nice to kiss?"

Mr. Morris, without so much as a try on, answered each and every question, and at the conclusion of the hour which could not do with the recreation of the license of the Morris American Trio, where Sunday performers were given, came out with final odds.

James A. Patten today, just to keep the prices from skyrocketing, dumped 1,000,000 bushels of May wheat into the city. He will make millions of dollars out of the corner.

Like a school of hungry trout rising to the lures of a fly, the wheat buyers of the wheat brokers gobbled up Patten's 1,000,000 bushels. Men fought the auction to get this wheat. POOR WOMAN TO SHARE IN MILLION

Mrs. J. T. Oxnard of Haverhill
by Brother.

Haverhill, April 2.—After a struggle of years against adverse circumstances, endeavoring to make both ends meet from the meager income of a small property in the Bradford district, Mrs. J. T. Oxnard is now to receive a large part of the Haverhill estate left by her brother, Charles A. Warren of San Francisco.

He died at the age of fifty-eight, in the city about eight weeks ago, and it is believed that the shock of the catastrophe hastened his end. He was the best known and wealthiest contractor on the coast, and in the late forties owned and built the North Station.

A benefactor of only a few dollars, Mrs. Oxnard was in the city when he was stricken and was called upon to assist in the care of the patient. She was the only one of the family who was not a stranger to him. He was the best known and wealthiest contractor on the coast, and in the late forties owned and built the North Station.

SPEECHLESS UNDER HYPNOTIST'S SPELL

Sensational Charges Against
"Professor" Keron at Manchester.

MANCHESTER, N. H., April 2.—"Professor" W. K. Keron, a hypnotist in popular demand, was held by the police in default of $1000 bail, because of the sensational charges against him. He is charged with the hypnotism of a woman, who is said to be a patient of his, and who is said to be a patient of his, and who is said to be a patient of his.

Several hundred people of this city, it is claimed, have paid Keron some $1000 each to see him perform his hypnotic feats.

This charge, with a report of other, equally sensational, charges, has been made by the Manchester police, who are charged with the duty of protecting the public from the hypnotism of Keron.

It is claimed that Keron has been in the city for several months, and that he has been performing his hypnotic feats for some time. He is charged with the hypnotism of a woman, who is said to be a patient of his, and who is said to be a patient of his, and who is said to be a patient of his.

ELECTION OF SENATORS BY PEOPLE IS NATION'S DEMAND

The election of United States senators by popular vote is soon to become an immediate probability if the action of the assembly throughout the Union is a true indication of popular sentiment. Those who have quit improving Congress for a constitutional amendment, and who have begun demanding such an amendment.

The constitution itself provides the means for making such a demand effective. In the last provision, which states that two-thirds of the states or a majority of Congress must call a convention to formulate the amendment desired. The right has been overlooked because it never has been exercised.

It is the joint resolution demanding the amendment of the constitution, which states that two-thirds of the states or a majority of Congress must call a convention to formulate the amendment desired. The right has been overlooked because it never has been exercised.

The lower House of Illinois Legislature passed that resolution Thursday and will go to the Senate for concurrence Wednesday. Iowa passed such a resolution at the last session of the Legislature. The Senate of Wisconsin passed it four years ago, and it is again pending in the present Legislature. Mississippi already has a similar measure, which will pass the resolution as well Oregon.

The States enumerated indicate the general feeling. The States which have realized they have a means of securing what they want from Congress when it is reluctant and are ready to use their power.

By BERT MITCHELL.
CINCINNATI, April 3.—The Red Sox were humiliated in their first game with the Cincinnati Reds this afternoon, losing a long and uninteresting game, 11 to 1. Only one run was scored in the last inning, and that was by a home run by Babe Ruth.

The Sox were out of the game from the start, and it looked like runs in the first inning, but Gossler and Stahl fell down with two men on base, and the Reds put the game on by scoring five runs off Eddie Cicotte. The knuckle ball artist was in bad from the very first ball pitched. As Zeam slammed it to center for a single, then came a couple of outs, and then a pass, followed by a two-bagger by Mitchell, a wild throw by Niles, another double by Hohlbeil and another wild chuck by Long. Even the pitcher got in a single, and when the third man was retired the Reds had five runs to their credit.

Our boys put up a poor effort all the way. They lost a game that but did not improve a single thing in the run. The only rally came when McCann's two bouncers were followed by a wild chuk, a line thrower of Cicotte, which enabled McCann to score and save a shut out. Cicotte started along with the Sox, when the Reds got to him with a four-run homer, which was followed by a single, a double, and a home run. PAYNE $45,000,000 SHORT ON TARIFF

Startling Error Discovered in Bill Which Dazes the House

By WILLIAM HOSTER.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—The tariff bill which the House passed last night, after a long and stormy session, contains a startling error which will cause the bill to be amended before it reaches the Senate. The error is in the schedule for the tariff on wool, which is set at 45 cents per pound, instead of 45 cents per pound for the raw wool and 15 cents per pound for the finished wool.

Frequently a deficit is shown in the wool schedule, and the House has been forced to amend the bill several times. The error in the bill is a result of a clerical mistake in the drafting of the bill, and it is expected that the Senate will also find the error and amend the bill accordingly.

The bill also contains a provision for the tariff on wool, which is set at 45 cents per pound, instead of 45 cents per pound for the raw wool and 15 cents per pound for the finished wool.

MELROSE

He has the largest and best list of houses and building land at the lowest prices ever offered in Melrose. Many of these properties are owned by non-residents or mortgagors who are anxious to close them out to settle estates, and many of them can be had for two-thirds their value. Melrose is one of the most beautiful suburbs in the State. The town service the best, being only 12 minutes' ride from No. 1 station, with 40 trains daily. It has the best of the scenery of all denominations, noted for its woods, water, and is surrounded by the celebrated Middlesex Valley Reservation of nearly 4,000 acres. If you want a good home in one of the cleanest and best of suburban cities, you will make no mistake in purchasing in Melrose, as property is cheap now, but is bound to rise in a very short time in the future, as rents are at a high level and materials and labor are advancing.

HERE IS A GENTLEMAN'S BEAUTIFUL PRIVATE RESIDENCE.

HERE ARE TWO PRETTY HOUSES JUST TAKEN BY MORTGAGE.
A HOUSE of 10 rooms, 2 1/2 baths, and a large lot, and a house of 8 rooms, 1 1/2 baths, and a large lot. The price is $5,000.00.

PREVAILING FABRICS AND COLORS IN VOGUE

THE prevailing fabrics and colors in vogue for the spring and summer seasons are those that are light, airy, and comfortable. The most popular fabrics are cotton, silk, and linen, which are all known for their softness and breathability. The most popular colors are pastels, such as pink, blue, and green, which are all known for their freshness and cheerfulness. HINTS ON HEADWEAR

SOME OF THE most common words that have been changed in the past 100 years are color, advice, and army. We can see the changes in the words' meanings by looking at the definitions of each word in 1900 and in 1990. The meaning of color has changed the most. In 1900, the word had two meanings. It was a noun meaning "any of the qualities of light that produce the sensation of color" and a verb meaning "to give color to." In 1990, the word has three meanings. It is a noun meaning "any of the qualities of light that produce the sensation of color," a verb meaning "to give color to," and a noun meaning "a person or group of people who share a common ancestry or culture." The meaning of advice has also changed. In 1900, the word was a noun meaning "a recommendation or suggestion." In 1990, the word is a noun meaning "a recommendation or suggestion" and a verb meaning "to give advice to." The meaning of army has changed the least. In 1900, the word was a noun meaning "a large body of soldiers." In 1990, the word is a noun meaning "a large body of soldiers" and a verb meaning "to be an army member." The words color, advice, and army are just a few of the many words that have changed in the past 100 years. The changes in the words' meanings are a result of the changes in the world around us. As the world changes, the words we use to describe it also change.

Third, like all snakes, they in the jumps with huge haws and straps, undulate, and have perforations (slitlike holes) on 100 toes are of a wide range of colors and shapes. The leathers are mostly plain, but some are decorated with the scales of a dark shade. Bull or saddle snakes have a dark saddle-shaped band in place of eyes, but it is thought that the dark band is a defense line with which to show the enemy. Green snakes in mud and vici are also common, and may have some coloring on the back. The snakes are common in overwintering this season, but it is hardly likely that it will be more than a passing nest talk free from all affection of superiority and preaching.

You can reach the conscience and the heart of a man by sympathy, friendship.

There is no use talking to a man going down hill, unless you can make him realize that you are his friend, unless you begin by knowing the truth, which is that, but for your own good fortune, YOU MIGHT BE IN HIS PLACE. If you say to a man,
"You ought to be ashamed of yourself," you may perhaps make him ashamed of himself for a moment, but you make him hate you and resent your interference.

If, on the contrary, you say to a man,
"I know what a hard thing it is that you have got to do. I know that I am asking you to do what I probably could not possibly do myself," you inspire him with a desire to win a victory and prove appreciation of your sympathy. Remember that it is not merely weakness that sends a man down hill, or makes the drunkard or gambler. It is often strength of character that ruins a man, and by strength of character we mean the real strength of ENO-TION, strength of PASSION.

It is quite easy for a milk-and-watery man to lead a good, blameless, milk-and-watery life in spite of life's dullness. But there are natures that absolutely demand excitement. If they cannot get it in work or success or quick achievement, they will get it in drink or otherwise. The great causes of drunkenness and failure in this world are POVERTY and MONOTONY. A man drinks to escape poverty, or he drinks to escape monotony.

Don't imagine that because a man is a drunkard he is necessarily your inferior;
the reverse is very apt to be the case. It is easy for a white rabbit to behave well;
not so easy for a more excitable, energetic animal. The great thing is to have the man INTEND TO DO BETTER.

This page will come into the hands of many men that would like to turn and walk back on the path toward self-control
—some of them are very near the edge of the place where all fall off.

We say to those men most earnestly:
INSIDE OF YOU THE CHANGE MUST COME. You can do it if you will. You have the power. You need only say to yourself, "I will not," and as long as you can put your pride in your self-control, in will and self-respect, nothing will shake you. When you have said, "I WILL NOT," remember that the man who asks you to drink believes that you are too weak to keep your word. An invitation to break your word is an insult. Take your resolution, and LET YOUR FRIENDS KNOW OF IT, and keep it. You can, if YOU will.

No living person can stop a man walking along this path except himself. He CAN stop himself.

One earnest, determined thought, or perhaps a series of determined efforts, beginning in failure, BUT ENDING IN suc-CESS, will turn him around and send him back to the self-control left behind.

That is why, occasionally, we print pictures and editorials such as this. They are "preachy" and dull, yet we ought to print them more often, and other newspapers should print them.

You see in this picture young men headed the wrong way. There's no use abusing them, no use denouncing or criticizing. It would be a good thing, however, if you could lift them up in the air a little, and show them where and how their path ends.

Then, IN THEIR OWN MINDS, there would be born the impulse that would send them back.

There isn't any man that WANTS to be a drunkard, or go to destruction, or break the hearts of his family, or lose the respect of his friends. The trouble is that drink and the other dissipations weaken
the nerves, weaken the will, ATTACK
THE ONLY WEAPONS OF RESIST-ANCE THAT A MAN HAS.

Many a time well-meant criticism has driven the unhappy drunkard down hill with increased rapidity.

Hope lies in presenting an appeal to intelligence, to the will, and to the conscience—THE CONSCIENCE IS NEVER DEAD, for it is a part of the indestructible soul of a man. The body, the brain, the nerves are affected. But even at the last the man CAN save himself if the will and conscience can be put to work.

The great mistake made by many is IN THE APPEAL TO CONSCIENCE.

Many try to reach the conscience and the will power of a man, and succeed only in arousing his temper and antagonism.
You cannot appeal to a man's will or conscience by mere criticism or nagging. You can reach the will of a man with logic, ear-

The picture on this page ought to arouse some thought in older boys and men that expect to make their way in the world with the aid of brain, conscience and determination—not relying on muscle or the animal instinct of fighting.

It is necessary every little while for men to "take stock" within themselves.
Young men especially need to stop, and think, and ask themselves where they are going, and whether they are going ANY-WHERE.

There are many going along the road in this picture, with their backs turned on self-control, and bound for the steep hill where everything ends BADLY.

Of course, we all of us KNOW all about this.

We all KNOW that the beginning of a foolish life is pleasant. When you turn your back on self-control, and walk along the flowery, pleasing path of self-indulgence, life is cheerful. There seem to be a great many birds singing in the trees, the sky is bright, and you feel rather sorry for the dull plodders that stay behind.

As you go further along the path the same causes do not produce QUITE the same effects. The brightness of a foolish life wears out. The guiding self-indulgence is less entertaining, but MORE PER-SISTENT IN PUSHING YOU ALONG.

The path changes after a while, gets pretty rough, and there comes a big fall at the end.

Certainly, we all KNOW that. But the trouble in this world is that we KNOW many things and we forget about them, or the knowing does us no good.

Nobody in the world knows better than the drunkard what a horrible thing drunk-eness is.

You can't TEACH him anything about it, and you can't CURE him. And about it can't TEACH or CURE the victim of any vice, gambling or any dissipation.

But inside of a man's own mind there is THE POWER TO CURE.

whether they drink whiskey or sit up at night, or dissipate in any other way.

"A boy is born with a certain amount of strength. He has got to keep that and add to it by living in the way he ought to live. The best thing that he can do is to mind his mother. She knows what is good for him, and the boy that thinks she doesn't is a fool."

Very good, simple advice from the powerful fighting man who just at present is followed by crowds wherever he goes. We would suggest to fathers and mothers that they read this statement of Jeffries to their little boys—even to the little boys with skinny arms, thin necks and big heads—THEY can't ever become fighters,
but they wish they could.

Say to such a little boy, "Would you like me to talk to you about cigarettes and being a good boy, Willie?" He will say,
"No."

But say to the same boy, "Willie, James J. Jeffries is the biggest fighter in the world. He has an arm as big around as your waist, a neck as big around as your shoulders. He can take one man in one hand and one in the other, knock their heads together and knock their brains out.
Would you like to hear what JEFFRIES
said about how to get strong?"

You will have a very attentive listener
And you will find that the Hon. Mr. Jef-fries's words will sink into a young mind that would grimly shut out merely moral advice.

The Jeffries statement will do for the little boy, or the boyish young man, whose mind is on physical strength.

THE most powerful body
in the world, perhaps,
belongs to the American fighting man, James
J. Jeffries.

Jeffries was asked by a New York reporter what advice he would give to boys and young men. His reply ought to be spread throughout the country as widely as possible. Hundreds of thousands of boys and men would take to heart the advice of the strongest fighting man in the world, and would pay little attention to any kind of a THINKING MAN, no matter how strong his thought. Said Jeffries:

"I'd give a boy or anybody else the same advice that his mother would give him. But the trouble is that boys think they know more than their mothers and fathers, and when they find that they don't, it is too late. Every young man ought to have sense enough to know that if he uses up strength amusing himself, knocking around and dissipating, he cannot have that strength to do anything else."

"Every little boy that smokes a cigarette may be perfectly sure that he is doing his best to make himself no account. I don't care whether he wants to be a big fighter like me, or just an ordinary man that makes his living in some one of the dull, ordinary ways. Cigarette smoke runs a boy's lungs, so that he couldn't be a fighter if he wanted to, once it gets a hold on him. And the same cigarette smoke poison hurts a boy's brains, so that he can't use his brains well, either."

"Do you suppose I'd have this chest on me if I had had a box of cigarettes in my pocket when I was a boy?"

"What I tell you about cigarettes for boys is true about all the other foolish things that boys and young men do.

THE power playing of the central astronomer has been shown to be a little recreation for a man of the highly intellectual and imaginative quality as used as a dramatic prop who revelled in the supreme joy of watching lives more miserable than their own have been driven to suicide, or to moving pictures. The theatre is a white-hot marvelous refraction of almost intolerable heat, but it is a place where the sunbather can find the pleasure of the sea. Life in its garish colors has been torn out of its scientific setting and is a thing to see anything better but taking the place of cheap melodrama, then would be a reason to regret its departure. WHAT THE JUDGE SAID

"Mrs. Atherton's wrong and stupid actions were the tortuous proceedings of a head and heart familiar with intrigue and convinced that dishonesty is the best policy."

"The one was a lady by birth, fitted naturally and by education to take a conspicuous place in society, but ostracised by her own wrong-doing from wholesome people; and the other was ostracised from society by her own incapacity to adopt or ape its manners, its conventional pursuits, or to adhere to its standards."

To Have Beautiful Ears Begin With the Baby

It is a common mistake to think that the ears of a baby are not important. In fact, the ears are the most important part of the baby's face. If the ears are not properly shaped, the baby will have a very ugly face. The ears should be shaped when the baby is very young, and the shape should be maintained as the baby grows. The ears should be kept clean and dry, and the skin should be rubbed with a soft cloth. The ears should be kept in a natural position, and the baby should be taught to keep them in that position. Some New Games Inspired by the Airship Craze

The airship craze has inspired many new games. One of the most popular is the airship race. In this game, the players are divided into two teams. Each team has a captain and a pilot. The captain is responsible for the strategy of the team, and the pilot is responsible for the actual flying. The game is played on a large field, and the players are given a set of rules to follow. The first team to cross the finish line wins the race. Another game is the airship battle. In this game, the players are divided into two teams. Each team has a captain and a pilot. "Love Philters" Still in Demand.

There is a great demand for "love philters" in the form of teeth. The teeth of a cow are often used as a "love philter" for a young man. The teeth of a cow are often used as a "love philter" for a young man. The teeth of a cow are often used as a "love philter" for a young man.

WHAT THE COLLEGE GIRLS FOUND OUT

How a Pair of Wealthy and Fashionable Young Women in an Effort to Obtain a Better Child Labor Law, Masqueraded as Factory Workers, Penetrated the Silk Mills of "Darkest Pennsylvania" and Revealed Shocking Conditions for Women and Children.

Miss Cochran, a graduate of Bryn Mawr College, and Miss Florence, Sanville, another college girl—both young and pretty, as well as cultured, and having independent means—worked for six weeks in the silk mills of Pennsylvania in order to collect information regarding the hygienic, social and economic conditions which surround the women workers in that industry.

In the following article, written especially for this newspaper, Miss Cochran speaks both for herself and Miss Sanville. The latter is executive secretary of the Consumers' League, an organization of public-spirited women supporters of the Child Labor bill, of which Miss Cochran is a director.

Miss Cochran declined to permit a photograph of herself to be printed which should show her face, because, if recognized, her future usefulness in securing employment to investigate factory evils would be destroyed.

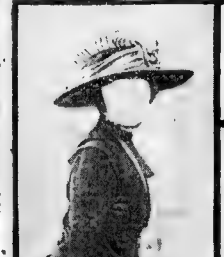

By Fanny T. Cochran.

in distinct ways. As we drove nearer to the more northern districts of the State, the type seemed to deteriorate. In the further north it grew more and more of a certain type of people, that is, the girls were not only dirty, but they were badly dressed and were in a state of battle against the elements. They showed every sign of being ill and nervous. One almost starting sight of all this was the children and the fact that they were so dirty and ill.

Concerning wages—the earnings of those under sixteen are from $1 to $1.25 a week. The highest wage is earned by the weaver who, on a piece-work basis, receive some $1.25 a week. In some cases, the girls are paid at a rate of $1.00 a week. In some cases, the girls are paid at a rate of $1.00 a week. In some cases, the girls are paid at a rate of $1.00 a week.

to visit the women and the factory. While we awaited the return of the superintendent we were enabled by reason of our disguise to talk freely to a number of persons. Not once was our identity suspected.

The anthracite coal region has been chosen for the establishment of over sixty per cent of the "shut-out" mills in Pennsylvania. In the majority of these mills, the girls are not only dirty, but they are badly dressed and are in a state of battle against the elements.

One of the most striking points I found in the physical environment of the mills was the matter of seats. There were sixteen mills in which we were given opportunity to judge whether the provision of the law regarding seats and the freedom of them was being observed. Of these sixteen factories a total pool of some $1.25 a week was earned by the girls.

In the first mill we worked in I was fortunate in being placed near a window sill, which, though plain, formed a rest. Miss Sanville could not find so convenient a place of architecture. When the point of utter exhaustion was reached, a girl sometimes stopped the last two wheels of her frame in order to take what rest she could on the narrow wooden rim that guarded the side of the mill.

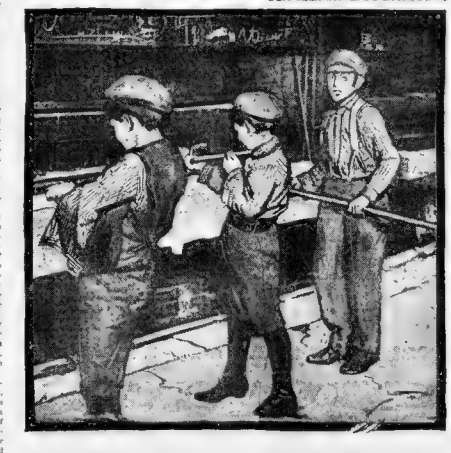

There were especially shocking instances in the compartment opened directly into the workroom, and as often as not men are well and only a few feet from the door. When the partition between the selling and the workroom is only a few feet from the door, the girls are in a state of battle against the elements.

In one mill the toilet for women was at the end of a long workroom, on a raised platform with a door that did not reach the floor. The girls were in a state of battle against the elements.

We came in during the winter, as far as we could judge in our first relationship, rough, somewhat unadorned, but well furnished. That there are other and not such welcome types we know. We know of one in which a man who is the father of several hundred children, and has a most unenviable reputation, a tendency which struck us most keenly was the familiarity which was often the rule among the younger men and the girls.

The moral standard is so low, and it is something to have a carefully chosen female supervisor, a control. Here the value of good social sciences is almost null. They can do work that no Government official can do and in which outside influence can help but little.

The twin pompadour features are almost identical, with the hair being parted at the centre and the hair pulled out so that it forms a flat, horizontal plane at temples and ears. Like the other styles, the pompadour is a hairstyle for the wearers of long hair, it is meant for hair that can be styled with a lot of hair spray and hair cream.

Another hair trend that caught the attention of the hair designers was the 'aerial' hairstyle. The different strands of hair are drawn upwards and curled into a spiral, creating a coil-like effect. The hair is styled to the new and simpler hairstyle.

bound in red ribbed cloth, full gold titles, giving in full the fascinating works of the greatest living author. The bizarre, the pathetic, the weird, the comic—Kipling has written them all, and in every story there lives trenchant, incisive character study, vivid description and thrilling plot interest, such as no other living author can devise or handle.

The murky streets of London, the sun-kissed plains of India, the wind-swept deserts of Africa—these Kipling portrays. He lived, suffered and fought beneath their skies, and his stories have the tragic intensity of life in these far-off lands.

The thrill of adventure, the lure of travel, the riotous joys of camp life—Kipling knew them all, and he has told them so simply, so attractively, that the world has hailed him now as the greatest living author; and, better than all, the whole family will enjoy his works. They are not stories merely for grown-ups—the boys and girls will find in Kipling a wholesome and delightful substitute for the cheap and murky tales that so often pollute their minds. Kipling is clean, wholesome, cheery and inspiring.
